THE SCOOP: Not all ministers are against the Big Box Living Wage Ordinance that the Chicago City Council will put to a vote on July 26.

Saint Sabina's Father Michael Pflieger and Trinity United Church of Christ Rev. Jeremiah Wright will lead a contingent of ministers in favor of the ordinance to City Hall Friday morning.

The ordinance will guarantee a $10-an-hour wage and $3-an-hour toward benefits at Big Box retailers like Target and Wal-Mart. The current minimum wage in Illinois is $6.50.

"This is a fight to demand the rich to share their profits with their workers," says Pflieger. I asked him what if the rich retailers were to say "Forget about it," or, "We just won't build in Chicago."

Pflieger responded, "That is a bluff, because they are too greedy and they know how much money can be made in Chicago."

THE CHICAGOLAND SPORTS Hall of Fame dinner is scheduled for Sept. 14 at Hawthorne Race Course with former Chicago Bear and sports broadcaster Mike Adamle emceeing. This event recognizes former and retired sports champions, coaches and officials from the world of sports. The numerous inductees include football's Richard Dent and Bobby Douglas, basketball's Terry Cummings and Jerry Colangelo and former White Sox players Jim Rivera and Billy Pierce. Also, Score radio's Mike North will become a Hall of Famer. This wonderful affair will benefit the Standing Tall Foundation and the Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities.
